

CHAPTER III

CONCLUSION

Teaching English in EFL countries always be challenging for teachers. There are many problems that happen in teaching English in EFL country like happen in Indonesia. Those are the lack of teaching aids, the way of teaching that is very boring, the lack of learning sources, and students' demotivation in learning English. They should teach English creatively to make their students keep motivated in learning English. If students are motivated in learning English, they will understand the English materials easily. Building students' motivation in learning English is a first step to make teaching and learning process run well.

Teachers as a mediator in transfer knowledge should be responsible to make sure their students understand English materials well. Sometimes, teachers just straight ahead on teaching English without paying attention to students whether they really understand the materials or not. Students will understand materials easily if they have high motivation in learning English. There are several ways that can be used to build students' motivation in learning English. One of them is using teaching aids.

Teaching aids include interesting topics to discuss or visual aid like posters, videos, charts, and infographics to get students' attention. Teaching aids is very useful in language learning because it helps students to learn English creatively. If teachers cannot use their creativity to transfer knowledge, students can be easily bored and lose their motivation in learning English.

Interactive infographics are examples of teaching aids that can be used to build students motivation in learning English. Interactive infographics help the English teachers to develop teaching processes. It can be used to explain the information or knowledge. It can also be applied to make the teaching process more interesting. Looking at the fact today, interactive infographics have roles in a modern environment. It becomes an important tool that can be used to spread information like in newspapers, magazines, and social media on the Internet. Infographics in the educational field help teachers to transfer knowledge.

In the technology era, being a creative teacher is very easy. In the process of making interactive infographics can simply make it by themselves. They can draw it on the drawing book or drawing paper, they coloured it by themselves, thus they can design the materials related to students need in their English class. However, if teachers are not confident with their drawings, several websites on the Internet provide online editing to make interactive infographics digitally in an easy and simple way, such as Canva, Snappa, Biteable, Venngage, Visme, and various other websites for designing infographics, even users are not a professional designer. Besides that, if teachers do not have ideas to make their own infographics, they can download from the internet like in website ESL Printables and Pinterest.

Being creative teachers does not only make students understand materials easily, but also make them love to learn English and love their teachers too. Being a beloved teacher is a dream of all teachers in the world. Teachers are not only can be remembered by students now and then, but also can be a good role model for students as good teachers.
