

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS, IMPLICATIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

A. Conclusions

Based on the results of the research and discussion that has been finished, the following conclusions can be obtained:

1. The System address in Dampelas Language at Dampelas sub-district Donggala Regency is divided into two forms of address terms, namely: a) form of kinship relationship, and b) non-kinship relationship.
 - a) The address terms based on kinship relations is further divided into two, namely the form of address horizontally and vertically or which is often referred to relationships kinship as direct that have blood relations or indirectly generated relations due to the existence of marital relations.
 - b) The address terms of non-kinship relations in the Dampelas language is divided into six of address terms namely, 1) address in the field of religion, 2) address in the fields of traditions, 3) Address of pronouns, 4) address of self-names 5) address of professional/positions, 6) Address based on social status 7) General address.
2. Social factors that influenced the use of address terms in Dampelas language at Dampelas sub-district Donggala Regency consist of six factors, 1) kinship factor, 2) social status factors, 3) age factor, 4) position / professional factors, 5) situation factors , and 6) gender factors.

3. Functions of address terms found in Dampelas language at Dampelas sub-district Donggala Regency consists of two functions of address, namely: 1) address as a konatif function, and 2) address as fatis functions. The function of the address terms most commonly found in the speeches of the Dampelas tribe is the address as a konatif function. This indicates that the Dampelas tribe is more numerous and often uses address to give orders, advice, invitations, and prohibitions on speaking partners to do something.

B. Implication

Dampelas Language at Dampelas Sub-district Donggala Regency is a language that is still alive and used in every speech act of the Dampelas tribe community. The object of the research is the address in Dampelas language, this is very important to know and also be understood together especially for the native speakers of the Dampelas language, to foster mutual respect and respect among fellow speakers. The use of good and appropriate address based on forms, social factors and address functions that exist will also create a sense of comfort in every communication.

The results of this research in its implications can develop and enrich the material and also add teaching materials in Dampelas language in schools, which are planned to be used as one of the additional lessons in elementary school. Thus Dampelas language will continue to be maintained.

The results of this research are also used as documentation and an activity in the process of language retention. Because, Dampelas language is included in one of the regional languages in Indonesia whose existence is almost extinct. So that the results of this study are expected to provide benefits, additional data and also knowledge of the local government and related institutions, such as the Language Center Institution or the Department of Education to maintain and preserve the Dampelas language.

C. Suggestions

From the research that has been finished, there are several suggestions that can be conveyed, namely:

1. It recommended to the local government of Dampelas sub-district and the Donggala District government through the Education Office to include languages regional into the curriculum as one of the lessons in school. It aims to maintain and preserve the culture and language of the Dampelas tribe.
2. In this research there are still many things and elements in the Dampelas language that have not been studied, such as the lexical category of address, types of address etc. Thus, research further on the Dampelas language as an object of research is very necessary. It aims to find a system address terms in Dampelas language is complex.